From the Desk of the Pastor...

It is said that when we cry, we weep over someone we love. In our Gospel this Sunday Jesus is moved to tears as He sees how Mary, Martha, and their friends are grieving at the death of Lazarus. This passage lends itself to great reflections that could fill the pages of a book. One such reflection could focus on Jesus' love for Lazarus and his sisters. Jesus has already developed a close relationship with the three members of this family. He has spent time with them. They have tended to His needs, and He has blessed them with many hours of sharing the Good News. They have listened attentively to His message.

Jesus uses the occasion of Lazarus' deadly sickness to show how much His Heavenly Father and He love not only Lazarus, but Mary and Martha – and, in turn, each one of us. Jesus knows it is part of His Father's plan to give life, full life, resurrected life to those who believe in Him. This new and restored life is all part of the ever-deepening covenant relationship that the Lord Jesus wants with the beloved of God – Lazarus, Martha, and Mary – and us. It is also a foreshadowing of the new life Jesus would bring through His own resurrection from the dead.

One of the things that strikes us is that we are no less loved by Jesus than Lazarus, Martha, and Mary are loved by Him. Jesus wants as close a relationship with us as He has with the three siblings of today's Gospel. And just as He challenges Mary and Martha to believe in Him Who is the Resurrection and the Life, He also asks us to profess our faith in Him. Jesus is waiting for us to say the words that Martha spoke: "Yes, Lord, I have come to believe that You are the Messiah, the Son of God – He Who is to come into the world."

Again, the powerful message that rings out from the readings today is simply that Jesus loves us no less than He loves Lazarus, Martha, and Mary. Jesus wants us to be in as close a relationship as He has with the three members of the household of Bethany. Jesus wants to share the fullness of life with us – right now, not just at the end of our life. All we need to do is to put our trust in the Lord Jesus and give praise and glory to His Father – our Father. What a powerful thought. We are humbled and feel loved. How would we want to respond to this love?

Blessings and love everyone!

- Fr. Erwin
